Pro Bono Publico!

IF YOU LOVE YOUR COUNTRY, encourage Home Productions. Why will you send abroad for wretchedly spurious articles, when you can have the good and true and beautiful of Oregon material and Oregon workmanship close at your very doors!

Why impoverish your country and its mechanics by the calculations of Prejudice, or by parsimonious misdirection?

Other articles, too numerous to mention, either on hand or made to order.

The life-spring of trade, "READY CASH,"

THURSDAY MORNING SEPT 24 18[illegible]

Generals Burnside and Gilmore

The reported resignations of these distinguished officers will naturally excite much interest, and cause very just regret. It seems however to have been understood for some time that Burnside would retire from service as soon as he succeeded in driving the rebels from East Tennessee. That purpose has been admirably accomplished and he now proves the opportunity which the situation of his department affords, to tender his resignation.

The following comments of the Sacramento Union are perhaps somewhat unjust to the Administration and yet they contain a great deal that is truthful, for we have never doubted since Vallandigham's arrest that General Burnside in causing it to be made acted from motives the most thoroughly patriotic, and fully deserved the sympathy of every loyal man:

"We think the best man of this [illegible] will consider Burnside's campaign [illegible] the Western Copperheads above and [illegible] his military exploits. The man who dared to arrest Vallandigham in the face of [illegible] pant malignants and to suppress the Chicago Times, the North-western organ of Jeff Davis, deserves the grateful remembrance of his countrymen. It is understood that Burnside feels aggrieved because certain rigorous measures, which he deemed necessary, were not endorsed by the Administration; that he contemplated resigning when the President interfered with his arrangements for squelching the traitors of Illinois, but that he desired to close his military career with credit. Burnside has undoubtedly some reason to complain. Everybody acknowledges that the President means to act for the good of the whole country, but it is equally clear that his generous disposition often leads him to adopt a policy of leniency to traitors which, in effect, is cruelty to that portion of the people who love their country and who wish to see peace restored as soon as possible. Burnside has been unable to see the distinction between men who are laboring to cripple the Union armies by encouraging desertion and obstructing the recruiting machinery of the Government, and the traitors who meet our men in the field. He has discovered that the purposes of Vallandigham and Jeff. Davis are identical. He believed that the free circulation of such sheets as the Chicago Times and the Cincinnati Enquirer tended to mislead the ignorant, and therefore attempted to correct the evil by a rigid application of the laws of war. The Administration seems to have been influenced by different considerations, and, to some extent, to have adopted the false and pernicious ideas of the clamorous Copperheads. The Constitution of the United States guarantees to individuals certain rights which may be enjoyed 'except in cases of rebellion and invasion.' Burnside assumed that it was not necessary that a rebellion should occur in every State of the Union to justify a suspension of these rights; it was enough for him that a rebellion existed within the limits of the United States, considered as one country. It is true the ordinary processes of the law are operative in that portion of the Union in which the overwhelming majority is loyal, but this must be regarded as a matter of convenience, leaving the National Government free to apply the laws of war to every section of our imperiled country. This was Burnside's opinion, and he acted upon it with his accustomed energy and decision. The heresy of the Copperheads, which has been partially countenanced by the Administration, consists in maintaining the supremacy of the State laws without regard to the existing rebellion, simply because certain States have not been invaded by the enemy. The Constitution recognizes no such distinction between the invasion of a particular State and the invasion of the country which is the property of the Nation. From the President's letter to the Albany Copperheads we infer that this is his opinion, but when General Burnside, his subordinate, proceeds to act upon it, Lincoln yields to clamor and that action is reversed. This is the grievance of the resigning General, and most loyal men will agree that he has good cause of complaint. Burnside has exhibited considerable magnanimity in dealing with the Administration. He has repeatedly given proof of his entire, unselfish devotion to the Union cause. He has had commands involving enormous responsibility thrust upon him, even against his earnest remonstrances, and yet has always done the best he could with the materials at his disposal. The Nation will regret the resignation of this able and zealous General."

A F & A M.—The Grand Lodge of Masons of this State, which has been in session at Salem this week, elected the following officers for the ensuing year, on Tuesday: John McCraken, Grand Master; S F Chadwick, Deputy Grand Master; A. A Smith, Senior Grand Warden; Josiah Myrick, Junior Grand Warden; A M Belt, Grand Treasurer; W S Caldwell, Grand Secretary; C H. Lewis, Chairman Board Educational Fund.

ARRIVAL OF A BISHOP.—Right Rev J C Talbot, Episcopal Bishop of the Territories of Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Dacotah, Nebraska and Idaho, arrived at Virginia City, N T, by overland stage on the 11th, from Nebraska City. He will remain at Virginia for some months, and travel through all the settlements of the Territory.

INTERESTING FROM FORT BENTON.—A party of gentlemen arrived in our city on Tuesday direct from Fort Benton. They were among the [illegible] of St Louis [illegible] May 9th [illegible] sundry items of news in relation to the arrival of the boats at Benton this year which we believe are not generally known here.

Four steamers—the Shreveport and Robert Campbell, belonging to the La Barge & Co., and the Nellie Rogers and Alone, owned by P. Chouteau & Co.—started [illegible] with passengers, some of whom were destined for the gold mines on the [illegible] of the Rocky mountains [illegible] in the Deer Lodge and Bitter Root valleys, and [illegible] Walla Walla.

The water in the upper Missouri has been unusually low this season, but it is the opinion of those gentlemen connected with the American Fur Company that had the steamboats left St. Louis two weeks sooner than they did there was sufficient water to have rendered the trip to Benton entirely successful. As it was, the first named steamer—Shreveport—landed her passengers and freight below the mouth of the Judith river, some 200 miles below Fort Benton; Nellie Rogers made the mouth of Milk river, 500 miles from Benton; the Alone landed at Fort Charles, a post formerly occupied by the American Fur Company, about [illegible] miles below the mouth of Milk river. The Robert Campbell was the least fortunate of all. She left St Louis later than the others and drew over three feet of water. It was impossible for her to come further than Fort Union, 800 miles below Fort Benton. At this point she landed her passengers and freight, the latter being carefully stored in the [illegible]. Many of the passengers have already arrived at Benton.—Among those who remain at Fort Union are [illegible] Vaughan, the former Indian Agent, who has resided [illegible] Blackfoot country for the past twenty five years, and Mr Culbertson, of Peoria, Illinois, well known on the upper Missouri. Dr Martin and W. H. Gilbert, Esq., banker of New York, were on board the Nellie Rogers. Both these gentlemen came out merely for pleasure.

An unfortunate occurrence happened to the Robert Campbell between Fort Berthold and Fort Union. The old enemies of the Government, the Sioux Indians, lined the banks of the Missouri [illegible] with bows and arrows. They used the [illegible] of speaking the Crow tongue [illegible] making believe they were Crow Indians, and ordered the steamboat to stop and a small boat to be sent ashore that some of their head men might be conducted on board to have a talk. A number of passengers on board knowing they were in the Sioux country and appreciating the fact that a Government expedition was hunting them up to properly chastise them for past hostilities, very judiciously protested against Captain Labarge sending the boat ashore. He however ordered the boat to be manned by five men, who made the shore, and as soon as they landed than a [illegible] of Sioux came on board, shaking the hands of the boatmen, pretending to be friends of the whites. This done, through they charged upon the men, killing three instantly—a fourth was pierced through the breast with a lance and mortally wounded, and the fifth had the presence of mind to jump into the water and push the boat off, thus making his retreat to the steamer.

Mr Reed, Indian Agent for the Blackfeet nation, seeing this evidence of hostility on the part of the Sioux, thought proper to have the annuity goods stored at Fort Union, and he himself returned to St Louis to represent officially the state of affairs to the proper head.

THE BATTLE OF THE ENGINEERS.—The contest now going on at Charleston between two of the best if not absolutely the best, engineers in their respective armies is extremely interesting in every point of view, besides that which concerns itself with the national bearing of the result. It is universally admitted that if Beauregard is good for anything in the way of a general, it is as an engineer. And he probably is very accomplished and ingenious in that line of the service. His actual exploits thus far are not proofs of great originality, as perhaps the occasions did not call for it, but they show no defects in his claim to be a first class engineer. But General Gilmore, in his reduction of Fort Pulaski, demonstrated highly original and brilliant qualities. What he accomplished in that case is well known, but the following statement in the Philadelphia North American of the immense amount of routine opinion which he had the boldness to attack and demolish at the same time best shows what stuff the man is made of:

"It is stated that General Wright, for three years Chief of the Engineer Bureau at Washington, after a most careful survey pronounced most positively against the practicability of an attack on Pulaski, stating that there is not enough old iron in America to take that fort. General Totten, long the head of the entire Engineer Corps, is reported to have said 'You might as well expect to bombard the Rocky Mountains, from Tybee as Fort Pulaski.' General Robert E. Lee gave rebel testimony to the same point: 'The enemy may fill our fort with shot and shell, but they cannot breach its walls.' But the incredulous Gilmore insisted on the opportunity to drag some cannon miles across floating marshes to a little firm land on which he proposed to plant them for a breaching battery, and by some strange chance he was permitted to do so. The world knows the effect on Fort Pulaski, and are now informed that its consequence with the branch of the service to which he was attached was to make [illegible] more the best hated officer in the Engineer Corps."

In the present struggle Gilmore has displayed decided superiority over Beauregard in one respect—that is, in getting his foothold on Morris Island. If he had been kept out of that—and he might have been—he could have made no progress; but that having been secured, and held, he has a fair field and need ask no favors. At the very starting point, therefore, General Gilmore evinced a generalship of a higher grade than belongs to the strict department of engineering. As for what is to come, the experience of Pulaski can only give us confidence, without determining specifically the result; the conditions of the problem being so different. Sumter is further off from Gilmore than was Pulaski; it is of stone instead of brick, and is additionally protected by tiers of cotton bales. On the other hand General Gilmore has much heavier and better ordnance than he had at Pulaski, and [illegible] batteries, besides having the aid of iron-clads. The balance of the conditions is believed to be [illegible] against the present undertaking, but experience alone can settle the question.—B[illegible] J[illegible]nal.

POLITICAL [illegible] IN A CHURCH.—A fight occurred at Bloomfield, Harrison county, (Ohio,) the other day between the Butternuts and Unionists, growing out of some Secesh women who attended church at Mt. Moriah Meeting House wearing butternut breastpins, being set upon and despoiled of those ornaments by the Union women attending the same church. The feminines had a little fight, and afterwards the male Butternuts took up the quarrel, and a regular fist and skull affair ensued, which resulted in the complete defeat of the Copperheads, many of whom had to be carried home.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—A subject concerning which little is known but about which much of interest to the nation might be written at the present moment is the army of the Potomac. It has undergone great changes lately. It has been enormously depleted; it has somewhat changed its location, and the Government has altered its plan in regard to the work in which it shall be employed—at least for some time to come. To [illegible] the matter I may simply say that it no longer [illegible] Richmond, or threatens [illegible] it what that it remains between the Rappahannock and the Potomac has been drawn in pretty close to the latter river and to Washington, and for some time to come it is to be used simply to cover the capital and hold the line of the Potomac against another invasion of Lee, who, however, I may say, with the main body of his army still reposes on the other side of the Rapidan, and who [illegible] has some twenty days apprehension of a fight.

The Army of the Potomac has been depleted during the month of August by two great flows from it of two heavy columns—one northward and the other southward. As I have said, 10 regiments of troops have been sent to this city, most of them from the Army of the Potomac. At least 40 regiments have been sent to General Gilmore to aid him in his operations against Charleston, and 20 more stand ready to go when General Gilmore shall signal that their services are needed. So that thus at this moment the Army of the Potomac is weaker than it has been at any previous time. Gen. Meade has not in hand more than 40,000 men. He is still amply able, with the troops at Washington, itself to defend the capital and hold his ground behind the works opposite the city in case Lee should attempt an advance, of which there is at present no sign. It would be impossible also for Lee to make an advance before the conscription is completed in this city, when the large force now here could at once be sent to Meade's relief.

There is but little likelihood, however, that Lee has any purpose of assuming the offensive. His army is small [illegible] has for [illegible] since been assumed [illegible] For, though he was lately reinforced from the army of Gen Bragg, he also, like us, has had to send troops down to Beauregard at Charleston. The desertions from Lee's army of late have been enormous, as Jeff Davis's edicts in his late piteous appeal to the Confederacy for more men, and we know from the great numbers of deserters who are constantly arriving within our lines, and from the tales they tell.

If the new rebel universal conscription brings recruits in good number to Lee's army, and if Beauregard be able to repel Gilmore, Lee may be ready for another fight in October, but not before. And by that time the army of the Potomac will have attained such a strength by the draft that I think it will be able to administer to him and his army the blow of death.

Henry Winter Davis, of Maryland, lately made a speech at Portland, Me., in favor of emancipating and arming negroes. In this speech he said:

"Colored men in Maine, New Hampshire and in many other States have all the rights and privileges of a white man. They voted in Maryland and North Carolina at one time. John Bell said he was twice elected to Congress by negro votes. It is entirely a new idea that they are not citizens, originating with Judge Taney in his decision in the Dredd Scott case. They are a great instrument of power, having mental and physical ability combined with a strong motive to fight for the Union as it ought to be. It is no time to quibble about these matters of etiquette while the life blood of our Nation is sought. The rebels having abdicated their country without a just cause, they must abide the consequences. Let the President appoint provisional governors in the different States to protect loyal men and secure obedience to the laws of the United States. A mere dictatory government will not answer the purpose. Let the constitution as it is, and the laws as they have been constitutionally enacted, be everywhere enforced. Let the slaves in the rebellious States be declared forever free."

A CHALLENGE TO PUGH.—We find the following in the Cincinnati Gazette:

To George E Pugh—Sir: In your speech published in the Cincinnati Gazette on the 18th of August you make the statement that in your opinion one regiment of good Democrats could put to flight all of the colored troops that have been enlisted by the President of the United States. In order to test your sincerity, I make to you this proposition, presuming you to be one of the good Democrats referred to. My mother was an African woman, my father a white man—one of the first families of the South. I am therefore of that class of persons to which you refer, so far as lineage is concerned. Furthermore, I am less in stature and of less weight than yourself, being somewhat older. I propose therefore in order to test the question of prowess to fight you in any manner and with any weapon, and at any time which will suit your convenience, in order to set at rest and finally dispose of this much agitated question. I remain respectfully yours,

JEFFERSON A. TOOMBS,
Cincinnati P O.

THE SIEGE OF CHARLESTON.—An eastern letter says: Some of the correspondents of the press have induced the public to believe that Charleston would be in the hands of our troops in a few hours after the next assault upon Fort Wagner. A letter just received at the War Department, from an officer under General Gilmore, says: "Even should we take Forts Sumter and Wagner, the other forts have got to be overcome, and the rebels, who are as busy as bees day and night, are erecting battery after battery in the way to Charleston. The military force is not deemed sufficient, and will have to be largely reinforced before the place is submitted."

A large number of troops (veterans) have been withdrawn from the army of the Potomac and despatched southward to take part in the reduction of Charleston. The places of these are being rapidly filled up by conscripts, who are hourly arriving from the North. Our losses at Charleston are terrible, not only from the guns of the enemy, but the climate. Particulars are not known, and may be regarded as mostly contraband.

THE REBEL TAX.—The rebels are troubled about their tax law. The Savannah Republican says distinctly that it cannot be put into successful operation. No officers can be found who are willing to try to execute it. That paper says:

"No responsible man who reads the law, its duties and [illegible] can [illegible] his way through with [illegible] The necessary expenses of [illegible] absorb the whole of the salary, if not something besides. In the country, where men keep horses of their own, and have very little else to do, the tax may be collected, but in the districts embracing cities and country, the case is different, and the Government will be compelled to pay such necessary expenses or go without the tax."

[illegible] [illegible] OF THE BROTHER JONATHAN.—[illegible] steamer [illegible] from San Francisco [illegible] Victoria [illegible] the bar [illegible] yesterday morning [illegible] to cross the bar [illegible] the express and most of her passengers [illegible] to the city. When the tide came up [illegible] Jonathan [illegible] over the bar and arrived [illegible] wharf at about [illegible] no later dates from the East than we received by telegraph from Yreka. We are [illegible] to Wells, Fargo & Co for full files [illegible] and Purser Poole for the following [illegible] of passengers and memoranda:

J. H. DODGE, Purser

[illegible] RECORDER'S COURT.—John Davis was [illegible] up "with a round turn" yesterday [illegible] under the influence of the ardent and [illegible] rather too much noise to suit the ears [illegible] that officer of justice, and taken before [illegible] McC[illegible], who fined him five dollars [illegible], which was paid and John went [illegible] again free.

[illegible]URE.—About 150 pounds of gold dust [illegible] down on the Hunt last evening, in the [illegible] of Wells Fargo & Co.

[illegible] SAIL.—The steamer Brother Jonathan [illegible] for San Francisco direct, on Friday [illegible] at 4 o'clock.

[illegible]MBER the sale of valuable homestead [illegible] takes place to-day at 10 o'clock, at Richardson's auction room.

[illegible] QUORUM.—The Common Council did [illegible] last night. Cause: no quorum.

[illegible]—In consequence of the absence [illegible] regular pressman our paper of Tuesday [illegible] morning was very badly worked and the [illegible] on the fourth page was not all readable; therefore we re-publish the excellent po[illegible] Captain Eckerson this morning.

[illegible]ERRIES.—We were shown some raspberries yesterday grown in the "Willamette [illegible]," which were the second crop gathered [illegible] from a stalk of this year's growth. They [illegible] gained their usual size and were of good [illegible].

[illegible]—There was another good audience at the theater last evening, and by the shouts of applause with which [illegible] announce was greeted it was quite a [illegible]. To-night the much admired and [illegible] comedy of the "Love Chase," will [illegible] performed, Mrs Hayne, Miss Mitchell and [illegible]ldron taking the leading characters.

DIORAMA.—Owing to his being unable to procure a suitable hall at present, Mr [illegible] leaves the city this morning for Oregon [illegible] Salem, where he intends exhibiting his [illegible] diorama. We were present a few moments at the exhibition on Tuesday evening [illegible] pronounce it well worth double the price [illegible] admission. The views are truly life like.

[illegible] CARIBOO.—We learn from Mr. Sam[illegible], of Marion county, who arrived on [illegible] steamer from Williams' Creek, that the [illegible] season there has about closed—snow [illegible] commenced to fall when he left, and [illegible] time the creeks are frozen. These [illegible], which were very rich, and very much [illegible] the Florence basin, are giving out, though [illegible] thinks other places may be found [illegible] as rich. About two thousand men [illegible] employed during the summer—a [illegible] of whom have made money. La[illegible] wages were $10 a day. Mr. B thinks [illegible] hundred will winter there drifting [illegible]. We are glad to learn that Mr [illegible], who has been engaged in trading in [illegible] produce, has been well repaid for his [illegible] that inhospitable region.

UNION SENTIMENT IN NORTH CAROLINA [illegible] EXAGGERATED.—Tar, pitch and turpentine are not more inflammable than are the [illegible] of the people of North Carolina [illegible] the Federal Government. Much has [illegible] said and written of late about the [illegible] sentiment of that State. It is all a [illegible] and that fact is well understood by our [illegible] officials, who have information [illegible] reliable than newspaper paragraphs [illegible] much some of the disappointed [illegible] may growl at the Richmond Government [illegible] not gratifying their ambition, and [illegible] a matter general out of every aristocratic owner of a barrel of turpentine, yet [illegible] now in the hands of the Government [illegible] Burton, [illegible] Mr Kienberg, [illegible] Roxbury, and many other counties, [illegible] to be the strongest conservatives [illegible] is difficult to determine any reason for the [illegible] of the [illegible] loyalty to the [illegible], or of a feeling in favor of union [illegible] restoration. This information [illegible] and the stories about a Union sentiment in North Carolina are only circulated to [illegible] the loyal people into prospects about [illegible] of the articles quoted from the Raleigh [illegible] are manufactured out of whole [illegible] and it is well that our officials here [illegible] and it [illegible] in no danger of [illegible] misled.—C[illegible] S[illegible] E[illegible] Bulletin.

In Every Age of the World. the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the [illegible] private remedies [illegible] No medicine has ever done more for the relief of humanity than DR OSGOOD'S INDIA CHOLAGOGUE. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague and eradicates it from the system is acknowledged by all. Do you prefer a speedy and effectual cure to a regular and scientific course of disease? KENNEDY'S CORNER, Wayne Co Ind Oct 3, 1863

Messrs A L Scovill & C.—I write to let you know what BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA has done for me. Last January I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism attended with great pain. I became bedridden and was helpless as a child. The pain was so great when I moved that it seemed as if it would take my very life. In this way I suffered for seven long weeks or more, and I thought that I could never recover. I was recommended to try BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA and I did so. I took it internally and had my body rubbed freely with it as long as I could bear several times a day. My pain began to give way immediately on using the medicine and I began to have strength and appetite and [illegible] able to be about again. It has been a great blessing to me in relieving my suffering.

God in Heaven! look down to-night,—
Watch over my father dear;
Shelter him in the stormy fight,
And pilot him safely here!

Ah, you cruel, you dear papa,
If you knew how we grieve to-night,
Wouldn't you leave the battle-field
And come to your home so bright!
When will you come back again, papa,
To sit in the old arm-chair,
And read the Bible at night once more,
And join in our evening prayer.

THEODORE J. ECKERSON.

The Importance of Homogeneous Social Institutions in the Union.

We have on several occasions spoken of the trenchant blows which certain journals in the slave holding States are dealing at the institution of slavery. The following article from a recent number of the Nashville Union will give the reader a fair example of the ability which men born in the slave States, and who are familiar with the results of the slave system upon the prosperity and society of those States, bring to the discussion of this question:

THE BASIS OF RECONSTRUCTION.

The pro-slavery Unionists, a very small and rapidly diminishing party, labor under the preposterous delusion that when the Union is restored the slaveholders will obtain all the guaranties they desire, in addition to all the old and and cumbersome machinery which the old nation was formerly put under bonds to run for their exclusive benefit. The only basis these conservative gentlemen can see is the protection of the slave property of their "Southern brethren." The people have had quite enough of this, and very generally think that an institution which demands the possession and direction not only of the local government of the State where it exists, but of all the other State Governments, and the Federal Government itself, is a nuisance and an imposition, and should be abated. For it is not enough for slavery that it should control all the slave States and the National Government, but every Governor, Legislature and Sheriff, from the Ohio river to the Canada line and the Atlantic coast, must be an obsequious servant and slave-catcher for the slaveholder. There never can be a restoration of the Union on such a basis as the revival of the African code. It is idle to talk of harmonizing upon the very ground of disunion and war.

It is incomprehensible why any man who desires a reconstruction of the Union and the establishment of harmony between the various sections, should select as the basis of restoration the very thing about which there has been the fiercest dispute for three generations, and which at least 27,000,000 out of 30,000,000 of the American people, to say nothing of all Christendom abroad, thoroughly detest. Do the pro-slavery Unionists hold slavery to be more valuable than the Union, that they ask that the Government shall be in the future, as in the past, the servant instead of the master of that unpopular system?

Slavery is to be protected by new guaranties, if asked for, and all fugitives are to be surrendered. Is that the proposition? Well, we will consent to it when Jeff. Davis gives back to the United States her two hundred thousand manly sons who have lost their lives in quelling this heinous rebellion against free government. Never until then! We advise our friends to be quiet on the subject of slavery protection. The country has had a little too much of it already. The day for such protection is past; we have paid a heavy price in blood for that sort of work already, and we do not care to repeat the exhausting process.

There is one broad, elevated basis of restoration which is strong as adamant, and on which the people may all securely stand. It is the principle which underlies our Government and all its institutions. That principle is freedom. Everybody admits that freedom is right as a principle, and nearly everybody admits that slavery is wrong as a principle. Now, freedom and slavery are the warring elements which have brought about this contest. Each is struggling for the mastery. Which shall we take as the basis of harmony and restoration—the principle which everybody approves, or the principle which hardly anybody approves? Shall we adopt the method of an oligarchy and let slavery rule? Shall the many yield to the few, or the few to the many? Whose interests, tastes and prejudices are to be consulted, those of three hundred thousand persons, or those of twenty-seven millions? It is not in the nature of slavery to be at peace with anything. It is like the pike, which is said to devour all other fishes. Suppose slavery be reinstated in its old authority, what then? Will we have peace or war in consequence? Let us take Tennessee for an example. A restoration of the State on the slavery basis would instantly revive an ultra pro-slavery party throughout the Middle and Western Divisions. No candidate could be elected, or appointed to any office, who was not intensely pro-slavery. Slavery would be the only topic discussed in the newspapers, or upon the stump. The odious laws of the old slave code, the more summary rules of Judge Lynch would be enforced against every writer or speaker who would venture to question the justice or policy of slavery. It is also certain that every man who supported the present Republican Administration, either directly or indirectly, in a civil or military capacity, would be forever excluded from all positions of trust and profit by the slavery faction.

It may be asked why attach so much importance to the final adjustment of the slavery question in restoring the Union? Because it is the only point of difference between the various States possessing any significance. No other question prevents the immediate reunion of the discordant States. It is for slavery only that the Southern States can be united, and it is against slavery only that the Northern States can be united. Remove this cause of the controversy, and the several portions of the republic will spring together and become firmly consolidated. California and Oregon, far off on the Pacific, though surrounded by vast wildernesses and mountain ranges from the sister States, and over two thousand miles distant from the National Capital, are bound fast to the fortunes of the republic by the golden chain of freedom, whose links, consisting of education, morality and progress are stronger than Jupiter's

"Golden everlasting chain,
Whose strong embrace holds heaven and earth and main."

But taint those noble States with the curse of negro bondage, and they too would fall as far as South Carolina into the black and seething whirlpool of disunion. Yes, carry out honestly the great principle of freedom upon which this great and glorious government was founded. Make the States free and thus congenial in feeling. It is a step forward in the path of virtue. Free speech, free schools, free newspapers, free labor and free institutions—these are the agencies by which all internal dissensions will be virtually removed, and this best of governments rendered perpetual.

JOSH BILLINGS TAKES A RISK.—I kum to the conclusion lately that life waz so onsartin, that the only wa for me to stand a fair chance with other folks, was to git mi life insured, and so i kalled on the Agent ov the "Garden Angel life insurance Co.," and answered the following questions, which was put to me over the top or a pair ov goold spees, by a slik little fat old fellor, with a little round gray head, and as pretty a little belly on him as enny man ever owned:

Questions: 1st. Are you a mail or female? If so, state how long u hav bin so.

2d. Are u subject to fits, and if so, du u hav more than one at a time?

3d. What iz yure precise fiteing weight?

4th. Did u ever hav enny ancestors, and if so, how much?

5th. What is yure opinion of the constitushionality of the 10 commandments?

6th. Du u ever hav enny night mares?

7th. Are u married and single, or are u a bachelor?

8th. Du u beleave in a futer state? If u du, state it.

IN FOR SOLDIERING.—In Monongahela township, Greene county, Pennsylvania, Lewis Greene was drafted. Although twenty-two years of age, he is scarcely larger than a boy of eight. After being drawn, he received his "notice," the same as the other conscripts, and presented himself before the Board for examination. The Provost Marshal had to laugh at the idea of such a little bit of humanity being drafted, and ordered his exemption on sight; whereupon Lewis affected to be greatly disappointed, remarking, in a loud voice, that in rejecting him the Board had refused a thorough going man, and deprived the army of the service of one of the best soldiers in the State!" In reply to a question whether he had any brothers or sisters, he replied that he had five of the former and six of the latter, upon which some one remarked, "It's no wonder you're so—" but, before he could finish the sentence, Lewis interrupted him, saying, "I know what you're going to say, but I wasn't the last!"

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public, and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore, thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.
PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result of it is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whisky, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!
AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters:"

PHILADELPHIA, ——

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours,
ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
